constitute sufficient reasons for creating continuing a rupture of that visible unity of the church for which our Lord Jesus Christ prayed.

"We are very thankful to believe that, notwithstanding differences between Christians, yet, because of the wide acceptance of the underlying basic prin ciple of baptismal unity, there is good hope of the fulfillment of our blessed Lord's high priestly prayer, which calls for constant thought and prayer and conscientious effort on the part of His disciples for the accomplishment of renion throughout Christendom.

"Believing that many of the evils now under review arise from the lack, both among our own people and others, of ufficient knowledge and proper understanding of our history, and of the general principles of our organic church, we would urge the more common use of such publications and literature as will tend to supply this lack."

Vote of Thanks Given.

Resolutions of hearty thanks were assed to the Bishop of Kentucky and ence: to the Bishop of Washington and the people for their gracious hospitality, and to the clergy of the Pro-Cathedral. It was agreed that when the conference adjourned, it should be to meet at the call of the primate of all Canada, at such time and place as he may appoint.

No Vote on Divorce Question.

Resolutions on remarriage after divorce were presented, but not moved for adoption, because the conference di-rected that no such resolutions should moved for adoption against the will of three bishops

'Resolved, That the church's attitude toward the questions of marriage and divorce, in order to protect the institutions of Christian marriage and the Christian family, would be a bold utterance of the sacred and mystical character of marriage based upon the primal revelation of its character as reenacted by our Lord's own words, no fore. Bishop ALEXANDER MACKAY-SMITH.

As one of the most popular rectors old St. John's ever had, the Right Rev. Alexander Mackay-Smith, Bishop Coadjutor of Pennsylvania, is assured of a hearty welcome to this city again.

In the spring of 1902 Bishop Mackay-Smith was consecrated Coadjutor Bishop of Pennsylvania in New York city. For many years he had been rector of St John's, and urgent appeals were made to him not to accept the new honor. He felt, however, that it was his duty to accept.

York, and Bishop Potter, of New York, and Bishop Coadjuter Vincent, of southern Ohio, read papers on the inculcation of political and commercial morality and the maintenance of high ideals.

Alexander Mackay-Smith was graduated from Trinity College in 1882, with high honors. From there he attended the theological seminary in Alexanderia, va., for several years, until he was ordained. After holding several important charges in different parts of the country, notably in New York, he was ideals. parish work of this old church, his abilities soon became known outside of Washington and several times his name was mentioned in conventions electing bishops. As a graduate of Trinity, Bishop Mackay-Smith becomes the twelfth "That it be commended to all bishops and other clergy first to familiarize themselves with those great political gathering of bishops as such, and this will make the Pan-American Conference member of the house of bishops who are "Trinity men." Except for the Missionary Council, this is the first time Bishop Mackay-Smith has attended a notable to many of his friends.
